Subject: July 2019: Mayor's Office of Community Business News

Letter from the Director

We hope you enjoyed a safe and enjoyable Independence Day celebration. The community business team is working hard to open up the possibility of financial independence for all Angelenos, including our most vulnerable populations.

With funding from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, we are launching a pilot program to train formerly incarcerated individuals as software developers and teaching them to turn those tech skills into thriving new businesses. We are also launching an incubator for food entrepreneurs, strengthening the pipeline to move food vendors into Farmers Markets and beyond.

Yet, too many of our residents are still without basic needs met for food, shelter, and clothing. Toward that end, Mayor Garcetti pursued and achieved a $124 Million allocation in the state budget for homelessness initiatives, a 46% increase over last year's allotment. Nearly half of the funds will go toward shelter beds and establishment of interim housing, while $16.5 Million will go toward hygiene, outreach, and employment services.

With 1,200 contacts made with people experiencing homelessness and 500 comprehensive cleanups near homeless encampments, we depend on our Bureau of Sanitation to establish a clean environment in which our community businesses can thrive. Still, the magnitude of the problem is such that there is much more work ahead of us.

We welcome your input. Please let us know your thoughts on what is and isn't working in your commercial neighborhood. Together, we will meet our challenges head on until the doors of economic opportunity are open wide for all.

To your success,

Sonya Kay Blake

ePlanLA, LA's new electronic plan review program, is now available!

The City of Los Angeles' Department of Building and Safety (LADBS) now offers customers the ability to submit project plans, drawings, and other construction project documents electronically through the recently launched online service, ePlanLA. It currently provides electronic plan review services for tenant improvement, soft-story retrofit, fire sprinkler, HVAC, plumbing, elevator, and electrical. It allows for customers to view progress and check the status of plans, while improving efficiency and transparency of the plan review process.

Expansion of Sanitation Services

Advancing beyond a case-by-case, complaint-driven model for clean ups, the City has designed neighborhood-based comprehensive cleaning and rapid engagement (CARE) teams. These teams will use data-driven tools to provide public health services to encampments, identify areas of highest need, and ensure that the hardest-hit areas receive regularly scheduled cleanups and hygiene services. Each CARE team will be assigned to a specific location, enabling the City to deploy clean up services more efficiently, and help sanitation workers build stronger relationships with homeless Angelenos in desperate need. In addition to a citywide team and a team working on the L.A. River, each Council District will be assigned a dedicated CARE team. Pending passage by the City Council, the program will launch in the fall of this year.

California launched CalSavers, a state-sponsored retirement program for the private sector. Free for employers, companies with five or more workers will be required to enroll by June 30, 2022, if they don't offer their employees a way to save and invest for retirement. It is estimated that this program will provide 7.5 million workers an easy way to deduct savings from their paychecks. It will bypass complex and costly setup procedures as well as the liability that has deterred many businesses from offering investment programs to their employees.

Cannabis Social Equity Program

The Social Equity Program (SEP) of the City's Department of Cannabis Regulation aims to support people impacted by the War on Drugs and to reduce barriers to entering the legal cannabis industry. Providing a number of programs to support business ownership and employment opportunities, the SEP offers eligible applicants an array of benefits, including the opportunity to be first-to-market (which is critically important given the City's limited number of available licenses), technical and business assistance, and fee deferrals. SEP also supports workforce development and job placement for those who are interested in employment opportunities. Individuals who are low income, have past cannabis arrests and or convictions, and those who live in disproportionately

HOW WE HELP

The North Valley BusinessSource Center provided loan application assistance to Mariana Services owner, Mariana Ospital. BSC helped Mariana obtain a 25k loan which allowed her to expand, purchase new equipment and hire two additional staff members. Mariana has paid back the loan in full and has now returned to BSC for an additional 50K in funding to assist with another expansion in the San Fernando Valley. She has continued attending BSC consultations and has now expanded her business to a third location.

Mariana Services is one of thousands of businesses that benefit from the City's seven BusinessSource Centers. If you live or conduct business in the City of LA, contact

LA's Mandatory Seismic Retrofit Program Ahead of Schedule

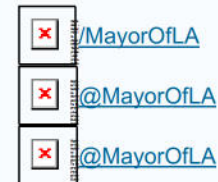

In 2015, the City of Los Angeles passed a historic earthquake retrofit ordinance targeting soft-story buildings as well as non-ductile concrete buildings--found to be the most seismically vulnerable structures in LA's current building stock. Since the ordinance went into effect, LA is ahead of schedule with soft-story retrofits and currently on-track for non-ductile concrete. In particular, over 2,500 soft-story structures have already been retrofitted five years of schedule. In addition, over 4,700 building owners have their building permits in-hand and are actively working towards completing their retrofits.

COMMUNITY BUSINESS

In 2013, Mayor Eric Garcetti and the City Council launched the Economic and Workforce Development Department (EWDD). The goal of EWDD is to steer economic development in a manner that yields thriving businesses, and creates job training and career opportunities for the City of Los Angeles. EWDD offers over $600 million in direct and indirect financing and technical assistance programs that promote business growth and job creation in economically depressed areas of the City. There are an array of economic development and assistance measures developed specifically for the City's business community. These include Business Response Unit, Business Source Centers, and Small Business Loan Assistance.

Policy Watch:

- Federal Measures to End Homelessness
Mayor Eric Garcetti is leading a coalition of mayors calling on Congress to pass the HR 1856-The Ending Homeless Act of 2019. Sponsored by Representative Maxine Waters, would direct more than $13 billion to support the work of cities by creating new affordable housing to support people experiencing homelessness. In addition Mayor Garcetti is advocating for action on two other pieces of legislation: the S.923-The Fighting Homelessness Through Services and Housing Act sponsored by Senator Feinstein and Representative Ted Lieu, which would establish a new $750 million grant program to provide homeless services; and the S. 1703-The Affordable Housing Credit Improvement Act, sponsored by Senator Maria Cantwell and Representative Suzan DelBene, which would increase the housing credit allocation by 50 percent and boost affordable housing production by an estimated 450,000 homes over the next decade.

- Paid Parental Leave Ordinance

Councilmembers David Ryu (CD4) and Nury Martinez (CD6) introduced a motion (Council File# 19-0101) to establish a parental leave policy that would allow new parents to take up to 18 weeks of leave without a reduction in pay. The motion calls for a Paid Parental Leave Ordinance in the City of Los Angeles as well as a study of the potential impacts such a policy might have on small businesses and non-profit organizations, among others. A parental leave policy in Los Angeles would augment existing State Disability Insurance and Paid Parental Leave programs to allow working parents to spend time with their child without any reduction in their weekly income.

I've caught several individuals or instances of the same individual tagging my property and neighborhood. If you know these individuals, please report them to rid our community of this unnecessary gang activity. I'd prefer a mural but I guess these individuals don't have the skills to complete one smh it's sad but I intend to keep reporting them until criminal activity of this nature subsides. Your help is greatly appreciated!
